☞ Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN's present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS

By Joseph M Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers OF THE Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, oct vo. and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1819.

From the New-York American.

The following lines are extracted from "Tales of the Hall," a new work, by the Rev. George Crabb—a review of which will be found in Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, for July, 1819: the review concludes with these words—"For the present we close our extracts from those admirable volumes, with some passages from the last of the Tales, which is entitled "Smugglers and Poachers;" and which is perhaps the most characteristic of them all, of Mr. Crabbe's genius. It opens in this beautiful and natural way: G.

"There was a widow in the village, known
To our good Squire, and he had favors shown
By frequent bounty—she as usual came,
And Richard saw the worn and weary frame,
Pale cheek, and eye subdued, of her whose mind
Was grateful still, and glad a friend to find:
Though to the world long since, and all its hopes resign'd,
Her easy form, in rustic neatness clad,
Was pleasing still! but she for ever sad.

"'Deep is her grief!" said Richard, truly deep,
And very still, and therefore seems to sleep;
To borrow simile, to paint her woes,
Theirs, like the river motion, seems repose,
Making no petty murmuring—settled, slow,
They never waste, they never overflow.
Rachel is one of those—for there are some
Who look for nothing in their days to come,
No good nor evil, neither hope nor fear,
Nothing remains or cheerful or severe;
One day is like the past, the year's sweet prime
Like the sad fall—for Rachel heeds not time:
Nothing remains to agitate her breast:
Spent is the tempest, and the sky at rest;
But while it raged her peace its ruin met,
And now the sun is on her prospects set.
Leave her, and let us her distress explore,
She heeds it not—she has been left before."

Henry IV. king of France, considered this maxim superior to any other: "the satisfaction derived from revenge is only momentary, brutal pleasure, that leaves an envenomed sting behind: but that gained from clemency is godlike, serene, and lasts for ever."

From the Curiosities of Literature.

ON THE ADJECTIVE 'PRETTY.'

A young man, says a critic, told me, the other day, that the verses of Mr. Gray were pretty. They are more than pretty, I answered him: you are like him, who having, for the first time in his life, seen the sea, should exclaim—it was a pretty thing! It was thus also a puny officer, in talking of the Duke of Marlborough, said, after the battle of Ramillies, he was a pretty man. The father of the young officer, who was present, turned to him with an austerity in his countenance he was little accustomed to wear—"and you are a pretty fool thus to characterise the greatest man in England." The sterling weight of words is not always known to our juvenile critics.

A gentleman not far distant from Glasgow, and who prized himself much on dissecting a fowl, was requested to dine with a party, who took care to have a hen, whose joints had, in the course of years, been well united, was desired to perform his favorite part, very readily consented; but after a full display of his abilities, in which he divided the dish, and shared the grease between himself and neighbors, was constrained to give up the contest, protesting, he believed it was the mother of the Cock that crew to Peter.

At the York sessions, Thomas English was sentenced to be transported for seven years, for having, in conjunction with Henry Fearby, stolen six pounds of mutton. On hearing his sentence, he exclaimed, "Thank you, I only wish it had been a better steak. Two men to be transported for six pounds of mutton! and I'll be d——d if either of us stole it."

A mortal fever once prevailed on board a ship at sea: and a negro was appointed to throw over-board the bodies of those who died from time to time. One day when the captain was on deck, he saw the negro dragging out of the forecastle a sick man, who was strugling violently to extricate himself from the negro's grasp, and remonstrated most bitterly against the cruelty of burying him alive. "What are you going to do with that man, you black d——l?" said the captain. "Going to throw him over-board, massa, cause he dead," replied the negro.—"Dead, you scoundrel! (says the captain,) don't you see that he moves and speaks?"—"Yes, massa, (replied the negro) I know he say he no dead, but he always lie so like h—ll, no body neber knows when to believe him.

ALEXANDRIA:

FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 22.

The Executive Council of Maryland will meet at Annapolis on Monday next, for the transaction of public business.

A Kentucky paper says, it is expected that the Governor of that state will convene the legislature, this year, at an earlier period than usual. The second Monday in November is fixed upon.

EXECUTION.

We understand, (says the New-York National Advocate of October 19,) that an arrangement different from the one published by us, has been made for the execution of Brown, since our last publication. The schooner Retrieve (the vessel on board of which the murder was committed) having arrived, the Marshal has applied to the National Insurance Company for permission to have the prisoner executed on board of that schooner. The Insurance Company having promptly acquiesced in this request, the unhappy man will undergo the sentence of the law where the murder was committed. We also mentioned the 23d of this month as the time appointed for his execution, whereas it is Friday the 22d.

Baltimore, Oct. 18.

On Saturday night last, about 11 o'clock a considerable quantity of snow fell in Baltimore. The late brilliant and beautiful display of the Aurora Borealis, is said by our weather wise ones to indicate a rapid advance of the cold.

WINTER APPROACHING.

At Hartford, on Wednesday last, there was a slight fall of snow and hail. At Salem, on the same day, after a cold blow, the streets were slightly covered with a fall of snow and hail. A gentleman who arrived yesterday from Kinderhook, informs us, that the Richmond mountains, west of that town, on Thursday morning last, were white with snow.

[N. York Evening Post, Oct. 19.

Four men and women have been committed to prison in London for having entered a meeting-house, drank six bottles of the communion wine, and stolen the cork-screw and silver mounted cork. They left behind them a note, stating that the wine was good, and they would come for more.

Extract of a letter to a gentleman in this city, dated Woodville, (Miss.) Sept. 24.

"I some time in the month of May last, informed you of my joining the Patriot army in the Spanish province of Texas; but as there was no earthly chance of the Patriots ever doing any thing for want of funds, I determined to resign my commission. Business in this country is remarkably dull."

Charleston, October 13.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

From our correspondent at New Orleans, we this day received a letter of the 16th ult. and a prices current of the 15th. He states that the Yellow Fever prevailed at that place with unabated violence; of 8 persons who dined together eight days previous to the 16th, 6 had taken the Fever, and 3 were resting in the tomb; it was not uncommon to dine with a friend one day, and follow him to the grave the next. It was not however, so sickly as it had been, though nothing but frost, it was thought, would put an end to the mortality. Business was extremely dull. We make the following interesting extract. "I have to inform you, that a successful haul has been made among the Pirates, 18 of whom were brought into this place, a few hours since. What their fate will be it is not easy to determine at this time, as they appear to have strong advocates." New York, October 18.

By the arrival of the brig New-Orleans, from Leghorn, we have received Gibraltar papers to the 7th of September.

The Governor of Gibraltar, in consequence of a proclamation issued by Lieut. General O'Donell, commanding in the neighboring district, stating that the Yellow Fever or Epidemia prevailed to an alarming degree in the Isla de Leon, in order to insure the safety of the garrison, has prohibited all communication by sea or land; no person coming from the territory of Spain is permitted to enter the garrison, unless under certain restrictions. A cordon of troops had been established, and an inspector of strangers placed at the entrance of the village—any person entering except where the inspector is stationed, the sentries are directed to fire upon him. Dated at Gibraltar, 29th August, 1819.

On the 2d of September, the Governor of Gibraltar learning that the Epidemic Fever was extending itself to towns beyond the limits of the cordons, and being apprehensive that no measure of precaution would answer short of closing the communication entirely with Spain, except through the customary process of quarantine, had given notice by proclamation that the communication would be closed the next evening, (Sept. 3,) at gun-fire. Tents have been erected on the Neutral Ground for the encampment of the poor, who are permitted to pursue their several callings in town during the day, and to return to their encampment at night.

A Gibraltar paper of the 4th of September states, that the Treaty for the cession of the Floridas has not been ratified by the Spanish government, but referred back to Washington. It is stated, that the American minister has taken a more permanent residence at Madrid, and that a Spanish Duke has been appointed Envoy Extraordinary to the United States. [Gazette.

"Havre, August 9.

"Our market is now very brisk, and offers some encouragement for shipments of cotton, if prices have not got up too much on your side. Good Uplands are worth 40 sols; Sea-Islands 3f. 50c. a 4f.; Louisiana 42 a 44 sols, duty paid; and there is little of what can be termed prime in the place.—In Rice there is nothing doing at the moment—the nominal quotation is 34 a 35f. acquitte. Coffee, St. Domingo and Havana, 30 a 31 sols.

"Kentucky Tobacco is quite out of favor here, and we recommend our friends not to ship any at present. Virginia, on the contrary, is in request, and sells readily at 70f. free of duty, for good quality, crop of 1818.

On the 30th of August last, the Intendant of the Havana, Don Alexandro Ramirez, ordered, that after the 1st of September, prompt payment should be exacted of the duties on such goods or merchandize, as would by their ready sale render its consumption, enable the merchants to comply with the order without inconvenience. Provisions of all kinds, falling under this rule, the duties on them must be paid before the vessels in which they were imported, leave the port. If this regulation should cause any serious embarrassment to the mercantile interest, such steps would be taken either partially or generally, as the nature of the case might seem to require.

A new Tariff, fixing the valuation of the goods which pay ad valorem duties, has been adopted by the Custom-House of the Havana, and went into operation on the 1st of this month. It is to continue in force for six months, when the ad valorem duties will be changed according to the variations which may have taken place in the commercial world. [Ibid.

New-York, Oct. 17.

A Halifax paper received yesterday from our correspondent contains the following extracts:— Kingston, Jam. Aug. 25.

Private letters received from Panama state, that about three weeks since a plot was discovered to have been formed by the British prisoners, made at the re-capture of Porto-Bello; the object of which was to obtain possession of a battery and powder magazine, near the city, and then to bombard the place. In the mean time a part of them were to take possession of the Spanish brig Venturosa, lying in the harbor of Panama, and it was intended that the whole of them should proceed in her, and join Lord Cochrane in the South-Seas. Two of the ringleaders were shot by order of General Hero, who shortly afterwards issued an order to all foreigners to depart from Panama within ten days.

It was reported at Panama, that Ld. Cochrane had taken Petit Gallao, in the harbor of which port a vessel was at anchor, having on board ten thousand dollars. It was further stated that his lordship had actually passed Guayquil, on his way to Chili.

Advices from Lima to the 8th June, have reached this city. By them we learn, that Lord Cochrane had captured the American schr Montezuma, belonging to Baltimore, on her way into Roadstead, off Galloa; she had on board a cargo valued at 80,000 dollars.—His lordship had also taken from a port in Para, 70,000 dollars.

The report of a rich prize with two millions said to have been captured by Ld. Cochrane, is ascertained to be without foundation.

The government of Lima had dispatched a fast-sailing schooner to cruize off Valdivia, to apprize any Spanish squadron of the movements of Lord Cochrane, and she had passed in safety his fleet. Subsequent to this, his lordship had raised the blockade of Callao. His reception at Valparaiso, it was supposed, would not be very flattering, as previous to his leaving Callao, he declared he would destroy the marine force at that place.

Six field officers and 37 of inferior rank, who had been made prisoners by the insurgent chief St. Martin, were put to death by his orders, in the village of St. Louis.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By the arrival at this port yesterday, of the schooner Cherub, Atnearn, in three days from Halifax, Mr. Topliff has received Halifax papers, to the 9th instant, containing London dates to the 11th September, received there by the Fox Packet, in 25 days from Falmouth. Extracts follow.

London, Sept. 9.

Policies were on Tuesday opened on the Royal Exchange, to receive one hundred pounds, on paying twenty pounds, if war is declared between Spain and the U. States within two months. Sept. 10.

Yesterday a court of common council assembled at Guildhall, to take into consideration the transactions at Manchester on the 16th ult. pursuant to the lord mayor's summons, issued upon a requisition signed by 34 members of the court. Seven resolutions, condemning the conduct of the magistrates and yeomanry of Manchester, were carried by a majority of 71 to 45.

The grand jury of the county of Lancaster have rejected all the bills of indictment offered to them by Mr. Hunt and his colleagues, charging the magistrates and volunteers of Manchester, with murder and the capital offence of cutting and stabbing, in the unfortunate affair of the 16th ult.

The sailing of the Cadiz expedition is definitively fixed for the 15th instant.

The reformers in London have resolved to give Mr. Hunt a triumphal entry into that city, and a public dinner. The great room of the Crown and anchor inn had been engaged for the dinner, and the toasts had been arranged.

It is said that Lord Cathcart is busily employed in negotiating a treaty with the emperor of Russia, for the mutual admission of produce and goods into the two countries, and hopes are entertained that the desirable effect will be accomplished.

French five per cents, Sept. 5, 73f 15c.

A very large quantity of omnium and consols was yesterday morning thrown upon the market—a respectable broker sold 100,000l. omnium at 3 1-3 premium, and 100,000l. consols of 70 1-8. 10l. were given to receive 100l. if press warrants were issued once within the next fourteen days.

"Negotiations," says one of the letters received in the city, "are still carried on between the British government and that of Spain, for the supply of a quantity of specie, probably in contemplation of the expiration of the act restricting the bank of England from cash payments. The proposal was in the first instance that nine, and subsequently ten millions should be conveyed from Havana, or Vera Cruz, in British ships of war. Hitherto nothing has been definitely determined; but it seems, from the progress which has been made in the negociation, that Spain is herself, at the present moment, so much in want of gold and silver that none can be spared by her for the use of this country, until next year, at the earliest."

PRINCESS OF WALES.

It is now believed that the Princess of Wales is not about to revisit England, and the reason is, that her highness has sent orders to various tradesmen for goods, to be forwarded to Italy; and particularly for a good set of state harness, for ten horses, which was completed last Saturday, and will speedily be shipped for Italy.

The Helen, Cornis, from Liverpool for Leghorn, sunk by a privateer in the Mediterranean. Crew saved in a boat, after being plundered and ill treated.

From the London Morning Chronicle, Sept. 9.

We are glad to see that subscriptions for the sufferers at Manchester have been opened at that place; at Liverpool; Newport; and Bury, St. Edmonds, as well as in the metropolis. The common council of the city of London, the second deliberative assembly of the empire, will this day take this subject into their consideration; and the result will, we have no doubt, prove in the most satisfactory manner, how universally the conduct of the magistrates and yeomanry of Manchester are viewed with abhorrence in this metropolis. The Court of common council is annually elected by the householders of the city of London, and may therefore be considered as representing pretty exactly the sentiments of the city. We shall in this manner be enabled to see what proportion the number of those who think with the lord mayor of London and the Manchester magistrates, bears, to that of those who disapproved of the conduct of both.

It is gratifying to perceive that our countrymen abroad take so distinguished a part on this occasion. Sir Robert Wilson's letter from Paris, to the electors of Southwark, has been followed by a letter from lord Radcliff, at present in the same place, to the electors of Nottingham, in which he also states his readiness to return among them, to support any measure which may be deemed necessary for the constitutional expression of their sentiments. When the proper opportunity occurs, at the various meetings which will take place throughout the greatest part of the country, the language of our respectable countrymen at home will, as has hitherto been the case, keep pace with that of those abroad.

We are ashamed to think that our country should have been disgraced by proceedings in several respects distinguished for a cold-blooded and disgusting cruelty, of which we really do not recollect any former example. A mother, with her infant child at her breast, first struck to the ground, and only saved from destruction by the sabre getting entangled in her clothes, when a second cut was made at her, lying prostrate on the ground; a poor old woman, upwards of 60, sabred by the man whom she knew from a child, and to whose mercy she confidently appealed; a little boy, in like manner, sabred by a man whom he knew, and to whom he flew for protection—such are the cases which came before the Grand Jury. How many more of the same description there may be we know not; as from the unsuccessful result of the Bills already presented, it became useless to bring forward any more of them.

Now really nothing has ever filled us with such astonishment as these disclosures. We could not have believed our country contained within its bosom so many beings so lost to every manly and humane feeling as to stain their swords with the blood of helpless old women, mothers with children at their breasts, and unprotected childhood. Shame! shame! on such base and dastardly conduct! What must Europe think of us at this moment?

To think too, that the signal for these horrible proceedings was given by Ministers of a Religion of Peace and Charity, that when the bloody work was done, one of these Ministers came forward and felicitated those by whom it was achieved!

UNION-HALL, LONDON.

Curious Mode of ejecting a bad Tenant.

Dennis O'Reilly appeared to answer the complaint of Catharine Donoughue for an assault. Each party was accompanied by a host of friends, and the confusion of tongues was admirable. Mrs. Donoughue described the assault in very vivid terms. She had been "completely upset," she said, by Mr. O'Reilly, because she asked him only for the key of the yard, and he would not give it to her at all, but tripped up her heels instead; and she called some six or seven ladies for to prove that they saw her lying flat. Mr. Dennis O'Reilly began his defence with a bow to the ground, and "I'll tell you what it is now, your honor—that is, your worship, if your worship's honor will hear me." The magistrate assured him of a patient hearing.—Then, your worship, as I was telling you, or was going to tell you, Mrs. Donoughue is a complete nuisance; and for an honest woman, she is not a bit of it, your honor—and is at that I would be bating a woman, your honor? that is, your worship!" The magistrate told him he was inclined to think better of him.—"Och! surely, your worship, and I would not do it! but Mrs. Donoughue was heaviest at top, for she had got a drop in it, your worship, and I put my hand to her shoulder, and go along with you, said I, Mrs. Donoughue!" Here Mr. O'Reilley suited the action to the word, and the word to the action, with a peculiar grace, and a most intelligent grin, when the magistrate catching the idea said—"Aye, and so you just put your hand to her, and down she tumbled?" "By the powers! and your worship's as right as if you was at it yourself!" exclaimed Mr. O'Reilly, with another bow, and with a triumphant smile, he added—"But I'll tell your worship all the rest of it: Mrs. Donoughue owes the landlord 14*l* for the rent of the place, and he can't get her out of it, nor get his money either; and so, your worship, what do you think she did now?"

The magistrate shook his head. "Why, he took away from her the key of the—of the water closet? saving your worship's presence, to see whether that would get her out!" Here a very crowded office was convulsed with laughter, in which Mrs. Donoughue very heartily joined, and after some further conversation, the parties were persuaded to retire and shake hands.

Boston, October 4.

FROM BATAVIA.

By ship Clay, from Batavia, Mr. Topliff has received the following commercial letter:

"Batavia, July 3. 1819.

"Presuming the following intelligence will be interesting to merchants trading to Java, we take the liberty to request you to give it publicity. The government of this island issued orders in August of last year, that after the first of November succeeding, no vessels except those of the colony, should discharge or load at any other port in the Island, than Batavia, unless by special permission from the supreme Government, and for particular reasons, they were allowed to enter and discharge at Samarang and Sourabaya only. Until about 10th May, permission was given for loading at these ports, but after that time all were refused, except for rice alone, and after loading rice, they were not allowed to stop at Batavia, or any other port to invest any funds that may remain. The government finding this system would not answer, as there are not vessels enough of the colony to bring the produce to this city, determined on the 25th June to open the two ports before named, making it first necessary to petition for consent. A vessel proceeding to either of these ports must complete her landing at the one first visited, not being allowed to visit more than one, neither to stop here to complete it, should she not succeed. All vessels coming to the Island must, by government regulations, first visit Batavia. It is the prevailing opinion here that these ports will be again closed after the crops are generally in, say in all September.

"The crops of this island were never so beautiful, yet the prices continue high. but we are of opinion that they will decline. after the vessels that are here have received their cargoes, of which there are now here of American 13 sail.

"Coffee of new crop costs on board, all expences paid, 25 to 26 dols. per pecul—do do do 28 to 29—sugar dull and plenty, yet maintains 10 1-4 to 10 1-2—rice per coy of 27 peculs, on board 50 a 53—do at outports, do do 36 a 40.

"We are yours with respect,

"A. L. FORESTIER, & CO."

INTERESTING RELATION.

Anecdote of Mons. de Sallo, the first projector of periodical performances.

In the year 1662, when Paris was afflicted with a very long and severe famine, M. de Sallo returning from a summer's evening walk, with only a little foot boy, was accosted by a man, who presented his pistol, and in a manner far from the resoluteness of a hardened robber asked for his money. M. de Sallo, observing that he came to the wrong man, and that he could get little from him, added, "I have only three pistoles about me, which are not worth a scuffle; so, much good may you do with them; but, let me tell you, you are in a bad way."

The man took them. and without asking him for more, walked off with an air of dejection and terror.

The fellow was no sooner gone, than M. de Sallo ordered the boy to follow him. to see where he went, and to give him an account of every thing. The lad obeyed; followed him through several obscure streets, and at length saw him enter a baker's shop, where he observed him change one of the pistoles, and buy a large brown loaf. With this purchase he went a few doors farther, and entering an alley, ascended a pair of stairs. The boy crept up after him to the fourth story, where he saw him go into a room, that had no light but that it received from the moon; and peeping through a crevice, he perceived him throw it on the floor, and burst into tears, saying, "There eat your fill: that's the dearest loaf I ever bought; I have robbed a gentleman of three pistoles; Let us husband them well, and let me have no more teazings; for soon or late these doings must bring me to the gallows; and all to satisfy your clamours." His lamentations were answered by those of the whole family; and his wife having at length calmed the agony of his mind, took up the loaf and cutting it, gave four pieces to four poor starving children.

The boy having thus happily performed his commission, returned home and gave his master an account of every thing he had seen and heard. M. de Sallo, who was much moved, ordered the boy to call him at five in the morning. This humane gentleman arose at the time appointed. and taking the boy with him to show him the way, inquired in the neighborhood the character of a man who lived in such a garret with a wife and four children; when he was told that he was a very industrious good kind of a man; that he was a shoe maker. and a neat workman, but was overburthened with a family, and had a hard struggle to live in such bad times.

Satisfied with this account, M. de Sallo ascended to the shoe maker's garret; and, knocking at the door, it was opened by the poor man himself, who knowing him at the first sight to be the person he had robbed the evening before, fell at his feet, and implored his mercy, pleading the extreme distress of his family, and begging that he would forgive his first crime. M. de Sallo desired him to make no noise; for he had no intention to hurt him. "You have a good character among your neighbors, (said he) but must expect that your life will soon be cut short, if you are now so wicked as to continue the freedom you took with me. Hold your hand; here are thirty pistoles to buy leather; husband it well, and set your children a commendable example. To put you out of further temptations to commit such ruinous and fatal actions, I will encourage your industry: I hear you are a neat workmen, and you shall take measure of me, and this boy, for two pair of shoes each, and he shall call upon you for them."—The whole family appeared struck with joy, amazement, and gratitude. M. de Sallo departed, greatly moved, and with a mind filled with satisfaction, at having saved a man, "Perhaps a family, from the commission of guilt, from an ignominious death, and perhaps, from eternal perdition."—Never was a day better begun; the consciousness of having performed such an action, whenever it occurs to the mind of a reasonable being, must be attended with pleasure, and that self complacency and secret approbation, which is more desirable than gold, and all the pleasures of the earth.

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior court of chancery for the district of Fredericksburg in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next,

4000 Acres of Land,

lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg.—The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from two to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole is well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, and who is employed to make a survey of it; and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will show the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. Bond and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.
June 11 tf

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. WM HAWLEY, Washington, Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria, Rev. OLIVER NORRIS, Alexandria, Rev. REUEL KEITH, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
